MRS. CRAIGIE LAUDS AMERICA

life and says that a trip to America instead of a tour through Europe ought to be the new "grand tour." In an interview Mrs. Craigie said:

"The secret of American success is everywhere to be found. The fact is that Americans are not afraid to try experiments, while the English fear to try experiments of any kind."

"I found the American workmen everywhere industrious and sober. I did not see a single drunken man in the three months I was in America, although I visited all the chief cities. Neither did I meet a single beggar. American workmen live better and are better educated than workmen anywhere else. They demand and obtain a higher standard of comfort and intellectual life."

"The American woman is without an equal in England. I found old ladies of seventy attending educational lectures in the mornings. I visited the White House and was greatly impressed by the Roosevelts. Miss Alice is thoroughly unspoiled and is bright and clever. Here in England we would call her a very pretty girl."

CAMPBELL GIVES ADVICE

Shibayama of Kealakekua, S. Kona, obtained eight signatures on his petition, of which names five are those living outside the limit.

"The fact is that T. Shibayama's petition contained forty-two signatures which you can verify at any time by examining the papers which are part of the official records of this office, a full account of which was sent you yesterday."

"And—You state that, 'It is noteworthy that this same Shibayama is an applicant for another saloon at Holoalua, too.'"

"No such application nor any records of any such application can be found in this office, although, one, K. Shibayama has made an application for a license to manufacture wine at Holoalua, N. Kona."

"The denial of certain of the signers to both the petitions of Sing Sing and T. Shibayama raises a very serious question and one on which I wrote you fully yesterday; but it is not more than possible, that when your short letter contains so many inaccurate statements, that your information concerning Notaries is more than likely just as unreliable. However, I have written to the parties you named in your letter of the 19th inst. and if your hearsay evidence is confirmed by them, undoubtedly the Notaries will be prosecuted."

"Some months ago Mr. Lyle A. Dickey called on me and stated that he was on a committee of your league to take in hand the liquor licenses. I told him that I was pleased to learn that active work was to be taken up and informed him that anything this office could do to help would be done and at the same time, instructed the License Clerk to give him all information at any time. Since that time I have not heard of your league doing anything, although a representative of your league has examined applications on file in this office."

"Now Mr. Richards, as I have neither the time nor the inclination to correct statements which you may hastily run into print with, I most respectfully ask that hereafter you better inform yourself on questions you wish to submit in open letters to the public, and that you make a correction of yesterday's letter giving the same as much publicity as you did the original."

"Respectfully yours,

"A. J. CAMPBELL,

"Treasurer Territory of Hawaii." Acting Governor Atkinson expressed his emphatic approval of the Treasurer's letter. "What is wanted is work," he said, "and not irresponsible and unreliable talk. I am emphatically opposed to the increase of saloons and I believe the best liquor men are also. But the way to fight the liquor evil is not to fling charges without knowledge of facts. Nor is effective work done by people who do not take the trouble to study the law, or to prepare to be able to prove their statements."

"The local churches and religious workers have neglected a great opportunity—I do not say they have neglected a duty, for that raises a question as to what their duty is in such a matter—but they have certainly neglected a great opportunity to keep down the number of saloons, in failing to take advantage of the means the law provides for protesting licenses."

"The law seems designed to encourage the sale of liquor. I believe there will be important amendments by the next legislature. In the meantime much may be done by intelligent and careful, organized work against undesirable saloons or undesirable applicants for licenses."

Yesterday, Treasurer Campbell sent another letter to Theodore Richards, containing a reply of his department to further statements by the latter regarding the Kona situation. Campbell again declares the statements to be decidedly inaccurate. The Treasurer concludes with the following:

"Concerning the license of T. Shibayama, you state that four of the signers are outside of the limit and that there are several owners who did not sign, although you claim it was represented to me that all the property-holders had signed but one. The fact is that no such representation was made to me; the fact also is that E. Shibayama's affidavit of property-holders had forty-two signatures, two only of which were qualified signatures, and the best evidence this department could obtain is reference to the property-holders within 1000 feet of the proposed location showed three property-holders only; thus after eliminating the forty unqualified signatures, Shibayama's affidavit contained a majority of the property-holders and as there was no protest of any kind against the issuance of this license, the license was issued to T. Shibayama. You also state that Frank R. Greenwell, R. Waasman and L. McFarlane deny acknowledging their signatures to the affidavit, although the document shows that they did. As you have supplied the names in this case, I will endeavor to get the proper affidavit from

JOHN G. WOOLLY IN TOWN

THE NOTED TEMPERANCE LECTURER IS BEING ENTERTAINED BY ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

John G. Woolley, the noted temperance lecturer, is being entertained today as the guest of the local anti-saloon league. Mr. Woolley will sail this afternoon on the Siberia.

Theodore Richards, Secretary of the chairman of a committee to entertain Mr. Woolley, a dinner will be served at the Hawaiian Hotel.

Mr. Woolley is returning from an extended campaign in New Zealand where he very nearly succeeded in gaining a complete victory over the saloon element.

"I am very anxious to get home," said Mr. Woolley this morning. "You see it was just about a year ago that I passed through here. I went first to Pago Pago and studied conditions there, then I went to New Zealand where I remained six months. During the time I was there I made 130 speeches in the temperance campaign being carried on. From there I went to Fiji, Apia and Samoa, and then to Australia. From there I visited Manila, China, Japan and now I am getting home for a rest."

"In Samoa the international law regarding the sale of liquor is well enforced but especially so in Tutuila, our own island."

"It was a great campaign in New Zealand. We carried a great many places and in many others passed a reduction law reducing the number of saloons 25 per cent."

"The legislature recently passed a general local option law which gives each elector the right to vote on the temperance question every three years."

"In China there is a hopeful total abstinence movement though it is not official as it has nothing to do with politics."

"In Japan there is also a very strong movement against the liquor traffic affecting all classes of people. It is simply a personal movement though as the government has nothing to do with it. I spoke in all the leading ports of Japan and I never had better audiences in my life in point of interest. Great numbers of men signed the pledge, at one meeting 500 students signed. I was invited by government authorities to speak to government schools. I was given many receptions indicating great interest on the part of the government. Japanese have absolutely prohibited the sale and use of opium and I believe a stringent bill will be passed shortly provided for no sale of liquor."

"The news from home is cheering. County after county is voting against the license. It is positively true that the sentiment of all countries is against the traffic, and the best evidence is the editorials in the liquor papers."

"Honolulu? Ah, Honolulu is too fair a place to leave the blot of a single saloon on her map. I have seen the beauty spots of the world and it is the simple truth that Honolulu is the most beautiful spot on the globe. This is my third visit and I am coming back again."

VAUDEVILLE NEXT WEEK.

On Monday and Tuesday evenings of next week, at the Orpheum, testimonial performances will be tendered Richard Buhler by the players of his company, to consist of monster vaudeville programs.

Buhler and Louise Orndorff will appear in that famous sketch "The Crackman," a fluffiest story that will stir to the depths all who witness the performance. Ernest Wilkes and Brenda Fowler will appear in "Chatterton," an emotional sketch that is a masterpiece. Comedian Auerbach will entertain in a manner marvelously funny and Juliette Chandler will appear in new songs and dances. There are other attractions too numerous to relate.

the above named in order that I may have some evidence on which to bring suit against the Notary. If the two Notary Publics named in your letter have acted as therein specified they certainly should be dealt with summarily for their malfeasance of office."

"Licenses can only be revoked upon conviction and I find it quite difficult to get the proper kind of evidence to secure convictions. If the members of your league are in a position, any time, to supply me with the necessary evidence, I will do my utmost in the line of prosecuting and in this connection, I will take the liberty to suggest that the members of your league, who are taking an active interest in this question, first should thoroughly inform themselves on the liquor laws as they now stand on the books. From several conversations with the different members of the league, I am led to believe that your workers have a very limited knowledge of this law."

ENCOURAGING MORE HANGING

HIGH SHERIFF HENRY RECEIVES A CIRCULAR INTENDED TO CHEER HIM UP.

High Sheriff Henry, who is anticipating having to take charge of several hangings in the near future, has received from the Executive Department this morning a circular bearing on the subject of capital punishment. It was sent from Boston to Acting Governor Atkinson by some person who is apparently so anxious to see that there is plenty of capital punishment that he is printing circulars and sending them all over the world, to persons in a position to see that eligible fellow-men are hanged. The circular is as follows:

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.
Inaugurated and Ordained by Almighty God; and Endorsed and Justified and Perpetuated by Jesus—See Genesis 9:6. "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed, for in the image of God made he man." Look up all the Biblical references on the above."

Now listen to Christ's words in His great "Sermon on the Mount."—"Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill." Matt. 5:17. And let him who dares, try to undo, disobey and break Jehovah's Laws, and endeavor to persuade others to do so also! May God have mercy on their souls. For "It is written," "But God shall wound the head of His enemies, and the hairy scalp of such an one as goeth on still in his trespasses." Ps. 68:21.

"Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven; but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven." Matt. 5:19. All Orthodox Clergy, with a very few exceptions, believe in and obey God's Inaugurated, and Ordained Law, of Capital Punishment; so does of course, the Pope, with all the Catholic Prelates and Clergy, with but an occasional exception here and there.

And God makes even one of the opposing clergymen to His Divine Law, nevertheless declare, as recently reported,—"It is expedient to abide by the commandments of God and His enduring and unalterable law!"

REV. SILLIMAN BLADGEN,
Burnswick Hotel,
Boston, Mass.,
2 Mch. '06.

"It's all right," said Henry when he had read the circular. "If the courts sentence and there is no pardon I have to execute without any circular advice on the subject. I do not know whether there are 10 or 12 a lot of hangings here or not, but if there are, we have the apparatus by which we can dispose of two at once if such a duty should have to be met."

ANOTHER TRUST CASE DECISION

reply to certain questions concerning the conspiracy alleged by the Government in the proceedings against the paper company, claiming personal privileges under the fourth and fifth amendments to the constitution of the United States, which they asserted, relieved them from disclosing the facts concerning which they were interrogated. They also contended that to compel such disclosures would amount to an unreasonable search and seizure, within the meaning of the fourth amendment, and to require them to give evidence against themselves, within the meaning of the fifth amendment. A similar plea was made on behalf of the General Paper Company.

The refusal of the witnesses to testify was reported to the Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin, and that tribunal directed them to reply to the questions and produce the books of the company, as required. From that decision an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court.
